

SCRA Best Faculty Award Winner -2017

Nomination File No. SBFA062017

- Dr. G.P.Ramesh
- Presently working as Professor/Head in Dept. of ECE at St.Peter's University, Chennai. India

Dr.G.P.Ramesh received his Doctorate degree from the field of Electronics in the year 2012. Obtained Bachelor of Technology and did Masters in Applied Electronics in the year 1996 and 1998 respectively.

Dr.G.P.Ramesh has an experience of 20 years in the field of academic sector as an eminent faculty, which includes 4 years in the overseas. Currently working as Professor and Head in the department of Electronic and Communication Engineering, St.Peter's University. Areas of interest include Antenna Design, VLSI technology, Hybrid Energy Systems. Organized and chaired many National and International Conferences. He is also a Reviewer for Journals and Conference papers. He is also Doctoral Committee member for Researchers in various universities. His work has been published in 58 technical papers, which includes National and International Journals and he also served as an editor of Indian Journal Of Emerging Electronics in Computer Communications-IJEECC.

Applied two international patents titled, "Double rotor flux assisted permanent magnet machine" and "Novel Emergency notification system for elderly protection using MEMS sensor" in the year 2014 and 2016 respectively.

As the Head of Department of ECE, Dr.G.P.Ramesh initiated Ph.D. programs at St. Peter's University. He also initiated SPIHER – MSME Business Incubator sponsored by the Ministry of Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises. So far, 4 persons are awarded PhD under his guidance and 8 persons are awaiting for the viva voce exam.